WHY NOT TAKE A NICE BOTTLE
OF WHISKEY HOME AS A GIFT

IRELAND'S LARGEST WHISKEY DRINKING COLLECTION

The Temple Bar Whiskey Whisky collection is a long established selection of rare and interesting whiskies gathered for decades from all over the World. Of course it all started when we used to bottle and label each individual whiskey from the barrel into their own unique bottles. While this practice is now handled by the distilleries, the business of procuring, maintaining and providing customers with Ireland's largest drinking collection is definitely still in the hands of the Temple Bar.

While Irish monks were the first known producers of 'Uisce Beatha' (the water of life), we have huge allegiance with our fellow Celts, the Scottish, in the production of this rare dram (drink), but most importantly with their large and varied selection of malt whisky. On several trips to Scotland, we have increased and developed our collection of whiskies as well as an appreciation of their famous relationship with the 'devil's buttermilk'.

While Ireland and Scotland have the longest traditions of making whiskies, we have not forgotten our friends across the Atlantic where bourbon and rye whiskies are in abundance. The Whiskey Whisky collection has the best of American and Canadian produce and where better to enjoy it than in a real Irish pub...the Temple Bar.

Please take a sampling from our collection and try some of our suggested ways of enjoying this wonderful drink. For the complete whiskey connoisseur ask the barman for our bible of Whiskies, kept safely behind the bar. You can take this menu with you as a souvenir of your time at the Temple Bar and tell your friends of a day you spent immersed with the best of spirits...!
